Abstract

The State Museum of Remnants of the Victims of Qatagon was built at the Memorial of the Witnesses in Tashkent. Most of those who were slaughtered were jadides. The word "new" means "seeking innovation." So why the Shoor government was not pleased with the news promoters.

Introduction

By the middle of the 19th century, The Chori descector had embarked on his own colonial plans. By conquering the Middle East, first of all, it was to have a ready-made product market and a low-cost commodity base, strengthening their influence in the region.

Political slaughter carried out by the Soviet government under Stalin from 1937 to 1938 is one of the worst tragedies in human history. In this process, some of the most advanced, active, educated, and intellectuals of that era became victims of maus. The NKVD has slaughtered not only themselves, but also family members. In those years, the spouses of state Jewish Jews, such as Cho'lpon, Fitrat, Abdulla Qodiriy, Abdulhay Tajiyev, and Rustam Islamov, as well as students sent to Germany in 1922, were also slaughtered.

The All-Russian Emergency Commission (VCHK) filed a criminal case against 450,000 people in the country from 1917 to 1939. In the late 1940's and early 1950's, when the Soviet Union ruled without question or legal basis, the next phase of the assassination of the Jadids, which was held in the country, was blurred. This time, he first attracted scholars and cultural figures and visitors.

In their writings, scholars, writers, and poets who first addressed the historical past and spiritual heritage of the Uzbek people and were sentenced to write about it were slaughtered on charges of nationalism.

The process of justifying unjustified slaughterers began after the death of Ctalin. As a result, some 40,000 people who were massacred in Uzbekistan, mostly in the United States, were acquitted. The Soviet state did not stop fighting against visitors even after Stalin's death.

The Soviet government's policy of assassination against the pilgrims continued unabated for various reasons and excuses. Hard times fell on the heads of jadides sent to different parts of the Soviet Union. U'i'ary worked on the mines and on the road. In the North Caucasus, however, it was involved in the development of uangi lands. When World War II broke out, they were taken to the front lines and fought against fascism. Due to harsh living conditions and cruel labor, rudeness and punishment, most of them were destroyed.

Our enlightened men fought for the future of the nation, sacrificing their lives.

Despite the persecution and persecution, the movement of our adventurers began to spread on wide ears and continued in secret on some fronts.

In Burma, the movement was called prosperity

In 1991, Uzbek writers Abdulla Qodiriy, Abdurauf Fitrat and Abdulhamid Solomon's son Cho'lpon Alisher Navoi were awarded the State Award for their great service in the development of modern Uzbek literature.

Abdullah Almighty, who died for freedom in 1994, was the first in our country to be awarded the Highest Prize of God—the Order of Independence.

In 2020, Abdulla Avloniy, Mahmoud Ahmadinejad Behbudiy and Munavvar Qori Abdurashidov, who contributed greatly to the freedom of our people and the creation of a system of education and education, were awarded the title "For their Great Service".

"Appreciate knowledge, seek knowledge! Don't let your one second time go undone either! The most precious period of youthful life. Never forget that knowledge and knowledge are rich, which does not burn in the fire, does not sink in the water, and no one can take it away from you! He told the younger generation what the pilgrims had left to us and that we should follow. In a nutshell, we have the full right to say that the pilgrims are heroes of the people.
