Introduction

A person rich in spirituality is always ready for the fate of his homeland, its development and protection. That is why our society is one of the most urgent tasks of raising people with pure heart, strong faith, honest, chaste, good morals, courteous, spiritually harmonious people. At the same time, the words of our famous compatriot Abdulla Avloniy: "Upbringing for us is a matter of life, or mammoth, or salvation, or destruction, or happiness, or catastrophe"¹ - once again prove that the only way to protect ourselves from various negative effects of globalization processes taking place in the world today is to educate young people in accordance with the requirements of the times.

Under such conditions, preserving the unity of our Motherland, national independence, valiantly fighting against any aggression, deeply instilling in the minds of servicemen the honor of the name of the defender of the Motherland is the most important condition for ensuring high combat level in the Armed Forces, a stable moral and psychological state and strong confidence of the personnel in victory.

From the first days of the formation of the Armed Forces of the Republic of Uzbekistan, strengthening military discipline, educating personnel in the spirit of strict observance of its requirements has been one of the priority tasks of commanders (chiefs), officers of educational and ideological work bodies and other officials. Because, high military discipline, legal order are always one of the most important foundations of the combat level, combat capability and fighting spirit of the units, military units and subdivisions, as well as the successful performance of the tasks assigned by the personnel.

In the current era, when the threat of information attack and cyberterrorism has reached a new stage, it becomes urgent to create new mechanisms for raising the national and fighting spirit of servicemen and to develop methodological approaches to imbue the essence of the national ideology into their minds.

As our President put it, "Our national army, ready to deal a worthy blow to any threat and risk, is a reliable and strong shield of our people, our country. That is why today we attach great importance not only to combat training and training of military personnel, but also to the education of patriotism. That is, in every soldier and sergeant, officer and general, in the entire personnel, national spirit and pride must be strong. The national spirit is an invincible force. The stronger the national spirit, the higher the will, the combat potential. Where do our brave children, who dream of becoming military in the future, get the national spirit, a sense of responsibility for the fate of the sacred Motherland? Our country draws from the rich history of our country, the courage of our great ancestors such as Amir Temur. He receives the trust, care and attention of his family, loving parents and our people."²

Amir Temur achieved supreme victories as a result of keeping strict discipline in his army. He paid great attention to the combat mental state of his warriors and used a variety of complex psychological and ethical methods in the training system of his troops. He also organized such competitions and games as wrestling, hunting, horse racing, archery aimed at all-round hardening of fighters in the organization of moral and psychological training in their troops. These events were accompanied by the sound of military musical instruments such as trumpets, trumpets, horns, hurricanes. Categories³:

Ensuring high moral and psychological training and fighting spirit of servicemen in the troops, strengthening their ideological immunity against various destructive ideas and influences, establishing high military discipline, mutual assistance and cohesion, a combative comradeship atmosphere in military communities are the main indicators of the activities of commanders, commanders and chiefs of all limbs ⁴. Therefore, it is not an exaggeration to say that the morale of the servicemen was raised by referring to the history of the world, studying the activities of great commanders and commanders, brave warriors in the leadership of the army and their rich experience.

"To be conquered and intelligible," Zardusht says, "if you always follow truth and truthfulness, you will become conquered and powerful. Do not think about anything except what is true, talk about nothing except what is true, and do nothing except what is righteous. There must be people who guide the world towards progress and development."⁵

President of the Republic of Uzbekistan Shavkat Mirziyoyev during a meeting with activists during his visit to Kokdala district of Kashkadarya region in April 2022, Amir Temur spoke about the legacy of defense and said: "If I have a little time, I read a book. I read about the battle of Tokhtamishkhan by Sohirqiran Amir Temur. Amir Temur used seven methods in this battle. Courage, in addition to raising his soldiers valiantly, also led the battles himself. myself, it was news as well. Then I was curious if someone had learned that method of fighting. No one has learned. First of all, we need to learn the methods of our ancestors."⁶

The following exhortation, mentioned by Alp Er Tonga in written sources, not only shows his high moral views, but at the same time clearly embodies the image of a patriotic man who does not give up a single hero of his homeland to foreign forces and enemies, and, if necessary, sacrifices his life: "I will not despise the thief of my homeland! Our ancestors who lie in the grave and our descendants who will be born before the Day of Resurrection have a right over this blessed land. No one has the right to give meat, even if it is a little from his homeland, even if it is just a penny. Land is the foundation of the state, how can it be given away?!"⁷

The patriotism, courage, courage, hatred of the enemy in the Alpine Land Mountains was vividly manifested by the fact that in him was Tomaris, who had a high fighting spirit. At the behest of Queen Thomaris, Cyrus' severed head was encased in a bottle filled with human blood. "You were very thirsty for blood, now drink, bloodthirsty" – this hymn in the Tomaris language shakes people's hearts today as a call to war and violence. The heroism of Tomaris, who became the pride and pride of our nation with his courage, courage and intelligence, will continue to be a symbol of patriotism, courage and loyalty over the years, centuries.

Spitamenes. The courage and military prowess of the Bactrian and Sogdian warriors was vividly demonstrated in the uprising led by Spitamenes against the Greeks who invaded Central Asia in 329-328 BC. They fought actively for several years to liberate their homeland from the invaders. Alexander the Great sends 3,000 infantry and 800 cavalry under Menedemus into battle against Spitamenes. Spitamenes puts an ambush in his path and annihilates his opponent, killing 2,000 infantry and 300 cavalry in the battle. Local warriors defeated the enemy in many battles due to the military style they used in valiant fights.

Our people have a rich historical, cultural and spiritual heritage, the study of which is the basis of the understanding of our national identity, its effective use, the creation of a civil society and a legal democratic state, national pride and raising the national spirit and values⁸

In conclusion, it should be noted that ensuring high moral and psychological training and fighting spirit of servicemen in the troops, strengthening their ideological immunity against various destructive ideas and influences, the activities of commanders and chiefs will depend on the establishment of high military discipline, mutual assistance and solidarity, a combat comradeship environment in military communities.
