Introduction

As we all know, the formation of the personality of the younger generation occurs under the influence of a number of factors. The most important of these factors will be directly related to the importance attached to the issues of his thoroughbred heritage, exemplary upbringing in the family, the social environment in the neighborhood, the education of young people in schools and other educational institutions.

From the first days of our country's independence, great attention has been paid to the role of the individual in society, especially the education of the younger generation. For the same purpose, the role of families in society has been assessed, broad rights have been granted to the management of the neighborhood, fundamental reforms have been carried out in the systems of schools, secondary vocational education and higher education, and these works continue in practice.

Today, the leadership of our country is creating favorable conditions for the formation of the younger generation as a harmonious personality. Separately, it should be noted that sports grounds, sports clubs, music, painting and various craft circles are organized here.

We know that in the early years of our rule, the ideological centers in some Western countries that sought to exploit this ideological "gap" allegedly tried to fill the minds of young people with concepts of non-Western education that were not inherent in our nation, in exchange for "selfless" assistance within the framework of self-sufficiency. In our view, it would be wrong to say that these actions have been completely eliminated today. Because of this, we believe that ham is more involved than ever in educating young people, and that this topic should be one of the constant and important topics of the day.

The main goal of education is to open the way for the younger generation to find their place in society as an educated, wise and sensible person who grows up typical of perfect people.

On the other hand, the main task of education is to convey to the younger generation their beliefs, moral qualities and skills, needs and aspirations that correspond to the rules of etiquette adopted in our society.

In his work "Turkish Guliston Yohud Aqlok", the scientist Abdullah Avlani highlighted the role of education in the formation of a person, saying: "God created people in a noble way, talented and capable, good and bad, profitable and unprofitable, white and black. But it will be possible to bring this ability in a person to maturity by means of education. A child becomes a happy person if he is well brought up and gets used to beautiful behavior, avoiding perverted behavior. If, without upbringing, his family grows up broken, he turns into an ignorant "messenger" who does not listen to admonitions and commits all sorts of perverted acts.

In these words, it is even more evident how important education is for a person's maturity.

In addition to the influence of the family, neighbors, schools and educational institutions on the upbringing of the younger generation in the current period, we need to take into account the product of globalization processes - the factor of the means of rapid transmission of information and its exchange through various Internet networks - in the focus of ham. It is a matter of concern that all sorts of destructive ideas, obscene, jingoistic films that poison the minds of young people, and various absurd games enter the lives of our young people.

It should also be noted that in our country there are crude mass publications, among which the level is somewhat low, light "entertainment" - it is also true that materials representing the elpi way of life, which from a moral point of view do not fit into our national mentality, also come into the field of view of young people.

At the moment, we believe that it is also necessary to pay attention to the various radio and TV shows, which are feared by the activity today, although today it has decreased for a while, it remains a requirement of the time to think more deeply about the negative impact of some "undesirable" films and programs, light-elpi songs in the minds of our youth.

To date, the computer games organized in some underground passages of the centers of our region and districts are almost completed. However, we are witnessing that some "entrepreneurs" today have married money, opened and were on the verge of opening computer hostels near educational institutions. This is someone who thinks that young children and teenagers in these countries are sitting at a computer desk and playing various ur-yiqit games while they are teaching in the same school.

Who is the reason that these young people are wasting their precious time on these "games", the money given to them by their parents, while school is in progress? The organizers of these computer games know how to "grab" their pocket holograms. But where do coaches and teachers look for classroom teachers at school or educational institution? Do they take any action by asking what students are doing instead of attending class?

In considering stadiums as mentioned above, there is a need to think more deeply about this in order to further strengthen outreach to pupils and students in families, neighbourhoods and educational institutions.

Our youth - the future of the nation and our nation as a whole - has a long-standing focus of education in their mentality. It is necessary that our descendants of the Navgiran are first of all brought up on the basis of our Eastern traditions, the norms of etiquette, and at the same time are capable of assimilating universal human values with thoughtful perception.
