Introduction

Raising legal awareness and legal culture in the world is one of the most important conditions for ensuring the rule of law and strengthening legitimacy. Therefore, in recent years, special attention has been paid to the radical reform of the national system of law, the formation of legal consciousness and legal culture in society, the elevation of the legal consciousness and legal culture of the population, the elimination of problems and shortcomings that prevent the increase in the level of legal literacy of citizens in society. In this case, the development of important tasks for increasing the legal knowledge of the population and clearly influential mechanisms for their implementation, the absorption of ideas for maintaining a balance between personal interests and the interests of society in raising legal consciousness and legal culture into the minds of the population, especially in the era of current globalization, scientific and technical development,, the use of positive experiences of foreign countries in this regard is considered as an urgent task.

Literature analysis and methodology:

The main advantage of law for a civilized society on a global scale is precisely the development of the legal consciousness and legal activity of citizens, the main way to pre-eliminate illegal activities, including "...information literacy and legal literacy...there is a need to ensure that human rights and the impact on each other in an active civil context". In this regard, the need for a socially mature, free person with legal knowledge in society, the increased need for the development of legal consciousness in young people in many social, political and economic changes, the study of how to teach legal norms, how to explain them and improve the systematic regulation of the mechanisms of their implementation remain urgent problems.

Results

In New Uzbekistan, a lot of practical work is being carried out to raise the legal consciousness and legal culture of the population, especially young people who are now on the verge of a big life, to ensure that they achieve legal literacy, have a high level of legal consciousness and can apply their legal knowledge in everyday life. In particular, to deeply instill in their minds the concepts of law and duty, honesty and purity and the norms of decency, to teach them important aspects of the Constitution from childhood, to increase their legal culture and legal literacy, to establish a wide range of economic activities, to improve the social protection system, their issues were among the important goals of the state. In particular, in recent years, special attention has been paid to improving the rights and freedoms of young people, social activity, strengthening their participation in the socio-economic, political and cultural spheres of society, their education, lifestyle.

Discussion:

In this regard, on February 7, 2017, PF-4947, on the action strategy for the further development of the Republic of Uzbekistan, on September 21, 2018, on the approval of the strategy for the innovative development of the Republic of Uzbekistan in 2019-2021, PF-5544, on October 8, 2019, on the approval of the concept for the development of the higher education system until 2030, PF-5847, on October 8, 2018-“spiritual and moral and physical perfection of Youth Education”of August 14 of the year, to a certain extent, the implementation of the tasks set out in PQ-3907 and other regulatory legal documents related to the topic”on measures to raise the educational and educational system to a qualitatively new level " will serve to raise the legal culture of young people.

In raising the legal consciousness and legal culture of young people, it is an important criterion that they first get to know their rights and freedoms well and practically ensure the possibility of their full and wide use without any obstacles and obstacles. Educating young people to be deeply respectful of the laws and regulations of the state, national customs and values in the requirements of society is one of the main goals of legal education. To develop the legal consciousness of young people in society, it is necessary to take the quality of legal education in youth education to a new level. In the education of young people, it is necessary to use the methodology of teaching the theory of law and innovative technologies in the process of globalization. Content update of legal education subjects in the educational institution. Adaptation of legal educational disciplines based on the specialty of higher educational institutions. At the same time, the media is of great importance in ensuring the legal literacy of citizens. The issue of strengthening the media's focus on legal topics, explaining more and more legal treatment among the population on the pages of periodicals, television and radio broadcasts, social networks, and legal propaganda are the main factors in shaping legal culture today.

"Legal propaganda is educational and propagandistic methods aimed at communicating the legal policy of society and the state, its strategic purpose to people, the masses. The formation of legal culture depends on the effectiveness of legal propaganda and the fact that it is understandable to the people. Therefore, legal propaganda relies on the results of such fields of science as the theory of Legal Society, the draft law, the sociology of law" .

Summary:

One of the main factors in the development of each state is the legal culture. Therefore, the development of the legal consciousness and culture of young people is one of the pressing problems of the current day. The political culture of citizens arises and develops mainly as a result of two: external and internal influences. External influence is a type of influence that arises in society through the activities of ideologies, ideological institutions and state bodies, explaining and reminding citizens of laws throughout their lives, while internal influence is the process of awakening the inner will and "I" formed as a result of external influence. The interrelationship of political culture with ideology and ideological categories is evident in the process of forming internal influence among citizens.
